FAQ

What is a multi-post?

The Eploy Multi-Poster can send your vacancy details to your preferred job boards. A 'multi-post' means sending the same vacancy, at the same time, to any number of supported job-boards. For example, if you send one vacancy to 5 job boards at the same time you would use 1 Eploy multi-posting credit. Conversely, if you sent 1 vacancy to 5 job boards separately at different times you would use 5 Eploy multi-posting credits. Similarly, updating a job that has already been posted will use one multi-post credit.

Does removing a posted job from a job board use a multi-posting credit?

No, removing a job from a job-board you have posted through the tool does not use a multi-posting credit. Credits are only used when you post jobs and if you update any posted jobs.

Do I still need job board advertising credits?

Yes, Eploy provides a multi-posting service for transmitting your vacancy details - you will still need advertising credits or a contract with any supported job boards that charge for advertising.

Which Job boards does the Eploy multi-poster support?

Please see <https://eplay.co.uk/jobboards>

Does posting to Indeed use multi-posting credits?

No, Eploy's Indeed integration does not use the multi-posting tool, please see the Eploy Indeed Integration datasheet for further details.
